FORT RENO OFFICERS CHARGE NEGRO TROOPS

With Forming a Conspiracy to Murder

EVERY WHITE OFFICIAL AT FORT

Disclosure Made at Hearing in Case of Knowles Who Was Bound Over. All Officers Go Heavily Armed—Arrests of Many Negroes to Follow.

El Reno, Okla., Jan. 10.—Belief of the army officers at Fort Reno that a conspiracy to murder every white officer at Fort Reno, beginning with Captain Edgar A. Macklin—against whom nearly every negro soldier at the post entertains a personal grudge as a result of the affair at Brownsville, Tex., and the discharge of the negro soldiers that followed—and then proceding down the list of officers, became known Tuesday as a result of the preliminary hearing in the case of Edward L. Knowles, corporal of company A, Twenty-fifth infantry, who was held on a charge of assault with intent to kill Captain Macklin, of company C. Twenty-fifth infantry, on the night of Dec. 21. Knowles was bound over to await the action of the Canadian county grand jury at the opening term of court.

All of the officers go heavily armed and protected throughout the night. An investigation is now being conducted at several army posts throughout the country, and within a short time several arrests of the members of the troop recently discharged in disgrace are expected to follow.

Information was received here on Tuesday night that the arrest of a negro soldier was made at La Junta, Colo.

Suspicion rests upon negro soldiers at Fort Niobrara, Neb., and at three other points. The arrests of these men had been postponed until the hearing in the case of Corporal Knowles was concluded at Fort Reno, when it was further hoped that information would be secured tending to incriminate other persons in this alleged conspiracy.

Workman Killed in Battle.

Eureka, Cal., Jan. 10.—E. W. Jenks, is dead; his brother, S. W. Jenks, is dying, and John Hayes is probably fatally wounded as a result of a street battle between union and nonunion longshoremen. The two Jenks are nonunion longshoremen, and Hays is a union man. The battle was the culmination of trouble which has been brewing here between the nonunion and union men for a long time. The mill men were determined to run boats on the "open shop" principle, and a short time ago formed a stevedore company to load and unload lumber vessels. The union men refused to work for the new company.

Doubly Bent on Suicide.

Huntsville, Ala., Jan. 10.—Two attempts at suicide made by Mrs. William Tucker, a young woman of Hazlegreen, proved successful when she died at the city hospital. Her death had been expected several days. On Dec. 29, after quarrelling with her husband, she went to a cornfield and shot herself through the stomach. She was found 24 hours later. This wound was considered fatal. Her death did not come quick enough, and she took a case knife that was sent in with her food and cut her throat from ear to ear. It was this gash that caused her death.

Citizens Confiscate Coal.

North Yakima, Wash., Jan. 10.—A train loaded with coal was raided at the station here by citizens who were without fuel. Almost twenty car loads were carried off. The engineer started to pull out of town when the levers holding the false bottoms of the coal cars were pulled out and the coal let down on the tracks. Hundreds have been without fuel for days, with zero weather prevailing. Citizens have organized to hold up any coal train that attempts to pass here without leaving

GOV. COX'S MESSAGE

Is Delivered to the Legislature of Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 10.—Governor John I. Cox, sent his final message to the legislature Wednesday. Among other things he suggests the establishment of a bureau of immigration, the enactment of an anti-race track gambling law and recommends amendments to the child labor law. The governor suggests a law inhibiting railroads from owning coal lands or engaging in coal operations; discusses publicly as a means for regulating corporations, recommending a law to prevent public service corporations from owning or controlling newspapers; recommends the amendment of state laws so as to conform as nearly as possible to the national railroad rate regulation law; recommends the early consideration of the trust question.

The governor discusses at length insurance matters, advocating the encouragement of county and mercantile mutuals in this state. The necessity for legislation to safeguard life policy holders from imposition and the diversion of their funds is urged and the governor recommends the enactment of laws providing standard forms of policies, the regulation of annual apportionment and accounting the prohibition of diversion of funds for political purposes, regulation of investments, requiring policies to include entire contract, limitation of salaries, regulation of disbursements and requiring companies to invest in Tennessee, a ratable per cent of reserve on policies held in this state.

Important Regulations Perfected.

Washington, Jan. 10.—That the new regulations for the mobilization of the national guard, just perfected by Assistant Secretary of War Oliver, will result in making impossible any repetition of the difficulties of re-organization of the militia forces in the face of war, experienced in the early days of 1898, is expected by the war department. These regulations provide for the minimum strength of the organizations of the militia in time of peace and equipment by the state authorities so that this force will be instantly available in time of need.

Entire Aldermanic Ticket Elected.

Savannah, Ga., Jan. 10.—Geo. W. Tiedman and his entire aldermanic ticket were elected here by the most overwhelming majority that has ever marked a political contest in Savannah, Ga. The total vote cast was 5,652.

He came here from Pensacola, Fla., about a year ago, and was orignally from Hurtsboro, Ala. Jerked from Train by Crane.

New Orleans, Jan. 10.—Dispatches from Shreveport say that Walter S. Curry, a prominent business man, was jerked by an automatic mail crane from the steps of a Vicksbug, Shreveport and Pacific passenger train and probably fatally injured. His coat caught while he leaned out to drop a package at Doylen, La., for a relative.

30 PEOPLE KILLED BY MEXICAN TROOPS

Eighty Other Cotton Mill Strikers Wounded.

FIRE OF TROOPS STOPS STRIKE

Rioters Threw Open Jails and Pillaged Stores and it Was Only by Using Bullets that the Soldiers Were Able to Subdue the Mob.

City of Mexico, Jan. 10.—Reports received from Rio Blanco and Nogales, in the Orizaba mill district, indicate that the government has completely mastered the situation.

The strikers have ceased all acts of violence in the presence of the large body of troops rushed there from this city and nearby garrisons.

The seriousness of the affair, however, was realized Tuesday when it was made known that thirty of the workmen were killed outright and over eighty wounded by the soldiers, who were compelled to fire on the main body of the rioters before they could be dispersed.

The men after pillaging the company store at Rio Blanco mills, became emboldened by their success. A part of the men rushed to Nogales, a short distance away, where another mill is located.

Telegraph, telephone and electric light wires were cut, and pawn shops and even private houses were pillaged. The jails were thrown open and the prisoners set free. The residents of the mill towns fled in terror to the city of Orizaba.

When the strikers reached Nogales, one mill official and gendarme from Orizaba made an ineffectual attempt to check them. A striker named Morelos threw a huge stone at Senor Herera, mayor of the city of Orizabe, striking that official on the head and bandly wounding him. Herera arose from where he had fallen and shot Morelas, killing him instantly.

A body of troops arrived, and as the strikers attempted to resist, a volley was fired into them, kiling 30 and wounding over 80. After this, the mob scattered, the strikers gathering together in groups at various parts of the city.

A body of 500 collected on the railroad track and held the train for Vera Cruz for several hours, the engineer not daring to run through the crowd. Finally troops arrived, and charged the men with broadswords, scattering them.

The jails and armories are filled with imprisoned strikers.

The soldiers have been patrolling the streets of the villages and watching the property of the mill owners.

The government has learned that a committee of strikers has left Orizaba for Tlaxcala, Pueblo and other cities to incite laborers at those points to strike. It was also learned that one man, well known to the police, had left for the isthmus of Tehauntepec on a like mission. All of these men are being pursued by the federal authorities.

General Pavloff Mortally Wounded.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 10.—General Pavloff, judge advocate general, was shot and mortally wounded in front of the military court building. The assassin was captured after wounding a policeman. General Pavloff was prominent during the sitting of the last parliament in answering interpellations. He especially execrated the revolutionists. The allegations has been made that he delayed the reprieve of a number of the Baltic Mutual Life, and who had been convicted by drumhead court-martial until the men were executed.

TWO CENTS A MILE R. R. FARE

Sherman Bill Practically Provides for that Rate.

Washington, Jan. 10.—The Sherman bill for universal interchangeable railway mileage books at the rate of 2 cents a mile was the subject of a hearing before the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce. H. L. Bond, second vice president of the Baltimore and Ohio railway; T. B. Harrison, representing the Louisville and Nashville, and a score of other railway men attended the hearing.

George T. Nicholson, third vice president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, said the bill was so broad that it practically amounted to the fixing of 2 cents a mile as the maximum rate for all railroads in the United States, and urged that it would work great hardship on many railways. Mr. Nicholson urged that the new anti-pass law should not be given as a reason for the reduction of railway fares. He said his railway found that 12½ per cent of its passenger traffic in June of last year was on pases to railway employees, but that of its passenger business only 2 per cent was on passes.

Gov. Terrell Offers Reward.

Atlanta, Jan. 10.—Governor Terrell has offered a reward of $200 for the apprehension of an unknown negro who, on Jan. 6, shot and killed Town Marshal C. C. Carter, of Richland. Mr. Carter thought the negro was an escaped convict and was attempting to arrest him when the negro shot him through the eye, killing him instantly. The murderer escaped and has not been heard of since. A reward of $100 was also offered for the arrest of John Gober, who killed Cleveland Gallus, Christmas Eve, near Nicholson, Jackson county, while the two were engaged in a drunken Christmas frolic. Gober immediately left the county and has not been heard from.

Horrible Assault by Negro.

Lynchburg, Va., Jan. 10.—Miss Gladys Shelton, 17-year-old daughter of a well-to-do farmer, near Monroe, Amherst county, was outraged by a negro, the assault being one of the most horrible in this section for years. The girl was alone at home and the negro, after accomplishing his purpose, took the girl to a creek to drown her. He changed his mind and made her go to a neighbor's home, while he went in another direction. Five negroes were arrested and brought here, a mob of 75 men chasing Sheriff Beard and a deputy 2 miles. The girl's condition is precarious, but she will recover.

Students Are Dismissed.

Lexington, Va., Jan. 10.—Seventy-two members of the third class who took part in the fireworks escapade Saturday night at the Virginia Military institute, have been dismissed by a special order read at the evening parade, but execution of the order was suspended pending a meeting of the board of directors, soon to be held here. The cadets can then appeal to the board to reinstate them or take other action. The seventy-two students are released from close arrest and ordered to attend to all duties, but are confined to limits of the cadets' barracks until the board takes action.

NATURE'S CATARRH CURE.

Sensible and Scientific Way to Cure This Disagreeable Disease.

Nearly everyone suffers at one time or another with catarrh.

The natural way to cure this disagreeable disease is by applying healing medications direct to the diseased spot.

In no other way can this be done as naturally as by the use of Hyomei, breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit.

Put several drops of Hyomei in the inhaler and then for a few minutes, four or five times a day, let the air you breathe come through it. In that way all the air that enters the nasal passages, the throat or the lungs, is filled with Hyomei's healing medication, reaching the most remote air cells of the respiratory organs, destroying all catarrhal germs and soothing and healing the irritated mucous membrane.

A few days' use of Hyomei will show how quickly it relieves all catarrhal conditions, and you will not have to use it long before you find it has effected a complete and lasting cure.

So strong is J. W. McCollum & Co's. faith in the power of Hyomei to cure catarrhal troubles that with every dollar outfit they give a guarantee to refund the money unless the remedy gives satisfaction. They take all the responsibility and you cannot afford to suffer longer with catarrh when an offer like this is made to you.

Should extra bottles of Hyomei be needed they can be obtained for 50c, making this one of the most economical as well as the most reliable remedies for catarrh that is known.

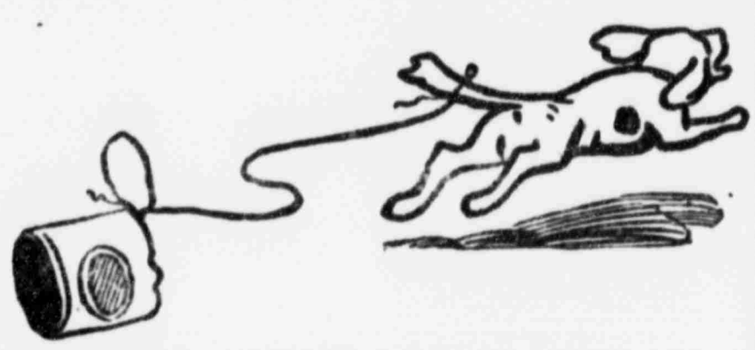
The Tale of a Pail



Women are creatures of habit. They form the habit of doing a certain thing and often continue it after improvements have been made.

Take shortening for instance. The old-time way was to purchase bulk lard, in a barrel or tub, which the grocer uncovered as soon as received, leaving it open to dirt, dust and flies, exposing it in some cases to the sun with the possibility of its becoming rancid, and permitting it to be placed where it would be likely to absorb the odor of cod-fish, soap or kerosene oil. This is an old-fashioned, out-of-date method of buying shortening, but many people still continue it. We wonder why? Probably, just a matter of habit.

There is a better way. Cottolene is not only superior to lard as a shortening, from the fact that it is a vegetable, and cleanly product, while lard is made from greasy, indigestible hog-fat, but Cottolene reaches the consumer in the same condition it was on the day we manufactured it.

If cleanliness, healthfulness, economy and superiority count for anything there is no excuse for any housewife in the land using other than Cottolene for shortening and frying. You owe it to yourself and family, as a careful housewife, to give Cottolene a test, and verify the claims we make for it.

Any one who expects to live his allotted three score years and ten cannot afford to experiment with lard cooked food. It is a foe to good digestion and a healthful condition of the stomach—Cottolene is the only satisfactory and perfect shortening.

COTTOLENE was granted a GRAND PRIZE (highest possible award) over all other cooking fats at the recent Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and food cooked with COTTOLENE another GRAND PRIZE.

"Home Helps" a book of 300 choice recipes, edited by Mrs. Rorer, is yours for a 2 cent stamp, if you address The N. K. Fairbank Company, Chicago.

A NEW FEATURE—The patent air-tight top on this pail is for the purpose of keeping COTTOLENE clean, fresh and wholesome; it also prevents it from absorbing all disagreeable odors of the grocery, such as fish, oil, etc.

French Bishops Meet Jan. 15.

Rome, Jan. 10.—The meeting of French bishops at first designated to be held in Paris, on Jan. 14, and then postponed until Jan. 22, has now been set to occur on Jan. 15. The insistance of several bishops that the meeting be held without delay influenced the vatican to make this disposition.

Youth Accidentally Shot.

Florence, S. C., Jan. 10.—News has reached the city of a terrible tragedy that occurred at Hyman, in this county. It is stated that a young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Coleman was accidentally shot in the head by another young boy, a son of Mr. Lynch.

ROYAL MESSENGERS.

They Carry Other Things Besides Government Dispatches.

Very odd are some of the errands done by the royal messenger service in Great Britain. At an English seaport, for instance, a sealed packet which was being conveyed across the channel to Windsor in care of the British foreign office courier accidentally unfastened in the custom house, and a quantity of cigars tumbled out. As the packet in question was invoiced as containing "important confidential government dispatches," no little amusement was caused. Nothing serious, however, came of the incident, for it is a recognized rule that "the king can do no wrong," and neither, therefore, can the king's messengers.

Besides, it is well understood that the service is maintained for other purposes than the nominal one. During the late Queen Victoria's reign these messengers used frequently to carry to the continent in sealed bags supposed to contain dispatches shirts and collars of a special make and pattern for one of the British ambassadors, hats and bonnets for her majesty's female relatives, all sorts of English knickknacks for the late Empress Frederick at Berlin and even barrels of native oysters for the embassies at Paris and Vienna.

For many years, moreover, it was the practice of the messengers to call each week on their way back to England at Brussels, where they received from the court kitchens a box of special biscuits of which Queen Victoria was very fond and which she believed nobody could make as well as the head pastry cook of King Leopold's kitchen. This box of biscuits was solemnly sealed up at the British legation with the official seal and then conveyed with infinite care to Windsor by way of Dover and London.—Chicago News.

THE LAKE SKIPPER.

How He Taught a Salt Water Veteran to Hustle.

There was a salt water captain who, for reasons of his own, accepted a berth as first mate in a big passenger steamer on the great lakes. He was a capable seafaring man, but he did not know what "hustle" meant until he went aboard at Buffalo. The lake skipper to whom he reported for duty remarked in the most casual manner:

"Just give her a coat of paint this morning, and, if the sun stays hot and she dries in good shape, give her a second coat this afternoon."

The salt water mate staggered in his tracks and made amazed protest. This was a 5,000 ton vessel, and giving her two coats of paint was several days' work by his reckoning. The lake skipper was a person of discernment, wherefore he had pity on his new mate and forbore to deal harshly with him, explaining with a tolerant grin:

"All right. I suppose you'll have to learn to move lively after snoozing around salt water all your life. You just pass that order along to the bos'n and tell him it's got to be done, and then you sit up and take notice."

The bos'n took the order calmly, as if it were in the day's work, and by nightfall the big steamer was spick and span with two coats of paint from her water line to her guard rail. The sailor from deep water had learned his first lesson in the ways of the great lakes during the navigation season, when the hard driven shipping must be forced to do twelve months' work in half a year.—Ralph D. Paine in Outing Magazine.

Ancient and Modern Bathing.

Soap is really quite a new factor in the world's life. Most of our ancestors were filthy and dissembled the fact by the use of stifling perfumes. Washing one's hands, which was only done by the very best people, meant dipping the fingers in rose water and drying them on a napkin. Even the Romans of the decadence, who were probably cleaner as a community than any before or since, bathed in water and rubbed themselves with oil. It sounds nasty to us, but then so does, for example, Chinese music, which millions of human beings think delightful.

BLOOD POISON

CURE YOURSELF AT HOME

Most persons who are afflicted with Contagious Blood Poison hesitate to go to a physician for several reasons. In the first place the expense is heavy, and they know that the inevitable treatment will be mercury and potash, strong minerals that act with disastrous effects on the delicate parts of the system, and which do not, after all, really cure the disease. What they want is a safe, reliable treatment that can be taken at home and a perfect cure made of this loathsome disorder without unnecessary exposure or expense. Such a remedy is S. S. S.—it is the only medicine that goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and drives out the last trace of the poison so that there are never any signs of its return. It does not contain a particle of mineral in any form, and after removing the disease from the circulation builds up every part of the system by its fine vegetable tonic properties.

S. S. S.

PURELY VEGETABLE

S. S. S. attacks the trouble at its head and not only permanently cures the disease for the one afflicted, but so purifies the blood that future offspring is insured against infection. S. S. S. may be taken in the privacy of your home and a perfect cure made of this hateful and loathsome trouble. For the assistance of those who are curing themselves with S. S. S. we have prepared a special book on Contagious Blood Poison which contains instructions of great value to all blood poison sufferers. We will be glad to send a copy of this book free, and if additional instructions or advice is wanted, our physicians will furnish it without charge.

BOMB USED AT THOMASVILLE.

Another Chapter Added to the Futch Family Mystery.

Thomasville, Ga., Jan. 10.—At an early hour Tuesday morning another chapter was added to the Futch family mystery when a bold attempt was made to blow up the house with a rudely constructed bomb. The explosion occurred about 1 o'clock, immediately under the bed of Allie Futch, and though uninjured, the young man was badly frightened.

The bomb wa about a foot and a half long and was constructed from a piece of a guano distributor filled with powder and inserted through a hole driven in the floor with a chisel.

Deputy Sheriff Singletary and a number of friends went immediately to the scene with track hounds and the criminal was traced some distance in the woods, where he had evidently taken flight on a horse he had left for this purpose. The affair is shrouded in the deepest mystery, and has caused great excitement in that section. A copy of a newspaper was wrapped about some dynamite caps and fuse found in the field near the house.

Mrs. Alice Futch resides 8 miles south of Thomasville, near Metcalf, Ga. She has two sons, Allie and John. The latter was away from home. It will be remembered that several unsuccessful attempts at poisoning the members of this family were made during last fall. The perpetrators of these attempts have never been found.

Cured of Lung Trouble.

"It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 135 pounds, and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at all drug stores. 50c and $1. Trial bottle free.

Tokio, Jan. 10.—The budget for the next fiscal year which the government expects to present soon provides an expenditure of 611,0,000 yen (almost $305,000,000), of which 412,000,000 yen is for ordinary purposes and 199,000,00 yen for extraordinary purposes. The revenues from the country's foreign trade and domestic commerce and industry, was prosperous and greatly exceeded the estimates.

Strike of Plumbers Is Over.

Macon, Ga., Jan. 10.—The strike of the Macon plumbers is over. The men have returned to their work and work on pipes is proceeding as usual. There was a disagreement as to the scale to be paid for work, and the plumbers failed to get recognition, decided to quit work. The strikers and the master plumbers got together and now everything is serene once more.

San Francisco, Jan. 10.—The license of William Wright, of the Southern Pacific ferry boat Solano, plying between Port Costa and Benecia, was revoked by government inspectors because the captain had contrary to law allowed the doors of Pullman cars that were being taken across the straits, to remain locked. Secretary Metcalf on his recent trip to San Francisco, observed this and the action followed.

The Wrong Feathers.

There is little except the method of inflation that distinguishes the balloon of the twentieth century from the machine used by M. Pilatre de Rozier, the first man to trust himself in a balloon, in October, 1783. One of his great triumphs was to hover over Paris at the height of 300 feet for a space of nine minutes. M. Pilatre achieved all his efforts by means of hot air produced by a fire which he carried in the balloon itself and was almost as daring as an Italian philosopher who took flight on a pair of wings of his own construction from the summit of the castle of Stirling in presence of King James IV. of Scotland. That courageous experimenter when picked up from the ground with a broken leg accounted for the collapse of his wings by exclaiming to the sympathetic courtiers that he had made a mistake in taking some of his feathers from the creatures of the barnyard whose inclination was toward the earth. Had he selected them from creatures with a heavenward tendency, like the eagle, the experiment would have been successful. He was believed and suitably rewarded.

A Street Sweeper's Gratuities.

A city merchant used to give an old crossing sweeper sixpence every Saturday. One day he discovered he had given half a sovereign by a mistake. So he hurried back to the crossing. The sweeper said in reply to a question, "Will you come, sir, after 4 o'clock to this address, and I will see if you are right about the coin?" The merchant did so and found a small office and two clerks busy at work. Presently the sweeper appeared, but, oh, so altered! He was dressed neatly and looked like a business man. "Oh, yes," he said to the astonished merchant, "you were correct. Our receipts today were about 10 shillings more than usual, so here is your half sovereign." As the merchant left the "office," vowing he would never give to the rogue again, the sweeper called after him, "You've forgotten your usual sixpence, sir!"—Dundee Advertiser.

Storm Words.

"Typhoon" is by no means the only word for a storm that has come to the English language through Portuguese and Spanish. Others are "tornado" and "hurricane," which Shakespeare could still write "hurricano." Old time Englishmen, at any rate, spelled the last word in at least as many ways as Shakespeare and other people spelled his name, and some of the spellings indicate frantic attempts to make the word suggest a derivation intelligible to the English mind. Of such are "furicane," "hurlecan," "Herocane" and "Harry-Cain." Even "hurricane" was finally adopted no doubt as suggesting "hurry." The original was the Carib "huracan," or "furacan," the navigators of Portugal and Spain having been instrumental only in bringing it to England from the west, as they brought "typhoon" from the east.

Wise Counsel From the South.

"I want to give some valuable advice to those who suffer with lame back and kidney trouble," says J. R. Blankenship, of Beck, Tenn. "I have proved to an absolute certainty that Electric Bitters will positively cure this distressing condition. The first bottle gave me great relief and after taking a few more bottles I was completely cured—so completely that it becomes a pleasure to recommend this great remedy." Sold under guarantee at all drug stores. Price 50c.

Ancient Thermopylae.

In spite of the fact, which is well known, that the sea has receded since ancient times, the strategical position of the ancient pass of Thermopylae is still immensely strong. The alternative route by Deleghi, which crosses the hills a mile and a half north of the springs by well engineered zigzags, is equally capable of defense and leads into a country of a most difficult character. Either pass might be held indefinitely by 5,000 men. The coast road is absolutely commanded from the heights so that a comparatively small force would render it impassable, while the flat lowland lying near the sea is marshy and intersected by dikes.

Receives a "Collect."

Oliver Herford, who is equally famous as a poet, illustrator and brilliant wit, was entertaining four magazine editors at luncheon when the bell rang and a maid entered with the mail.

"Ah," said an editor, "an epistle."

"No," said Mr. Herford, tearing open the envelope, "not an epistle; a collect."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

After all it seems that happiness is but a toss-up between a married man's warnings and a bachelor's advice.

Cardinal Gibbons recently said that the dread of exposure in the public press keeps many a man sticking close to the path of rectitude who otherwise would stray off into the byways of graft.

It is announced that in future preference will be given to married men in making appointments in the post-office department, the authorities perhaps reasoning that men who have had experience in handling females should be able to successfully handle mails.

As Mr. Carnegie is so anxious not to die rich, he might advocate the abolition of the tariff protection to the steel trust, and he would find the enormous profits of that corporation diminish and its watered stock and bonds not so valuable if such tariff revision advice was adopted.

The Democratic members of the United States Senate can well afford to act as judges in the fight to a finish between the Republican factions over the riot of the negro soldiers at Brownsville and see that equal justice is meted out without regard to the prejudices of the Republican factions.

It is astonishing how many people are barely existing in the densely populated East, while Kansas and other agricultural States of the West and others of the South are praying for skilled and unskilled labor at "good wages." A man who says his idleness is enforced these days is fibbing. It would be well also for every Southern and Western State to have an immigration bureau for the direction of home seekers.

While we as a nation are boasting, our forests, our lands and our coal, which are our great natural resources and public utilities, have been monopolized by great corporations and grasping individuals. The very commodities of life, such as beef and wheat, our meat and bread have been cornered, and in many places railroads own such quantities of coal lands and so many mines that the product of other miners they refuse to transport along their route. The stream of commercial life in America is strong and swift, but if controlled and utilized aright its value will be great.

MOVING FOR LOWER RATES.

The Gainesville Melon Growers' Association, F. D. Warner secretary, has issue the following circular letter to fruit and vegetable growers. The matter is of great importance and should receive the prompt attention of growers in every section of Florida. The circular reads:

"At the eighth annual meeting of the Melon Growers' Association held here on January 5, 1907, a resolution was adopted calling a convention of fruit and vegetable growers of the State to meet in Jacksonville on Wednesday January 30, and appointed delegates to the same.

"The object of the convention will be to take concerted action to bring before the Inter-State Commission the matter of exorbitant freight and refrigator rates and to get some relief on the same.

"It is a fact that we have no carload rates to the East on many of our products, and that the grower has to pay just as much per package whether he ships two packages or a carload of four hundred.

"There is a carload rate on cantaloupes and all other classes of freight to all points, and if we make the proper effort there is no reason why we should not get relief from this arbitrary action of the railroads, as well as a reduction from the present high freight and refrigeration rates charged us on all perishables.

"Before the present rate law went into effect it was almost useless to try, but conditions have changed, and if you will give us your hearty co-operation and appoint at least one delegate to meet us in Jacksonville to discuss this all-important matter, and to formulate some plan of action, we can no doubt get relief and save to the growers thousands of dollars every year.

"This is not a personal or local matter, but affects all shippers, be he ever so small, and we earnestly request that you hold meetings and send representatives from your section.

"Kindly give this your serious consideration and advise us if you will give us your help, as there is no doubt but that by all working together we can secure the much desired relief.

"Please let us hear from you as soon as possible."

SENATOR MALLORY.

Those aspirants who have been in training for Hon. Stephen R. Mallory's seat in the United States Senate had just as well conclude to wait for a few years, for it is now generally conceded that Mr. Mallory will again be a candidate to succeed himself. The people never had a more faithful servant in the United States Congress. He has never allowed himself to be placed under obligations to any corporate interest, and his vote and influence has always been in support of measures in the interest of the common people. The Sun repeats what it said a few weeks ago, that it would be a calamity to deny this faithful public servant re-election should he be a candidate to succeed himself. He has been true to the trust reposed in him, and we have no doubt that the Democracy of Florida will stand by him.

The Leesburg Commercial has the following to say regarding Senator Mallory:

"The Commercial is authorized to announce that Hon S R Mallory will be a candidate to succeed himself as United States Senator from Florida. This information is sufficiently reliable to allay all apprehensions as to our senior Senator's ambition in this particular, and it will be gratifying to his thousands of friends in Florida to know that he will seek this further evidence of their confidence."

The financial column says that "money is easy," but the trouble is the man who has it not.

In the fight between the State Republican executive committee and the Republican executive committee of Escambia county in reference to recommendations for offices of United States marshal for the Northern district of Florida, the postmastership of Pensacola and the district attorneyship, the state committee has won a victory, as indicated by private advices received in this city by telegraph Wednesday, the nominees of the State committee having been appointed Wednesday morning, and it is expected that they will go at once to the Senate for confirmation. The nominees of the State committee are the same as have been holding office, being Hon. T. F. Mellourin, United States marshal, Hon. W. H. Northrup, postmaster, and Hon. W. B. Sheppard, district attorney. When these recommendations were made at a recent meeting of the committee in Tallahassee strenuous objections were made by the Escambia county executive committee, who made a ticket of their own, but without avail.

One of the real rarities of the world at the present day and time is wood and lumber. The demand for these materials has increased to such an extent until the question of a continued supply to meet the ever increasing call is a serious problem. North America, once the wooded storehouse of the world, is now unable to supply its own demands, notwithstanding its millions of acres of wooded area. Even now it depends upon Canada, which, with its wealth of woodland, has probably the largest single area of any country in the world who sends its entire surplus to our country. The future wood supply of the world is now attracting great attention, and the present consumption without reforesting will result in a great and serious scarcity of wood.

What is known as the credit currency bill has been reported on favorably by the banking and currency committee of the House at Washington and it is believed will become a law. It authorizes the issue of emergency or credit currency by the national banks in the sum of $37,500 for every $100,000 of its capital. The object of the bill is to afford sufficient elasticity in the currency to relieve the pressure for money which occurs at crop-moving time and in great emergencies. Bankers estimate the amount of additional currency which the measure would afford at $200,000,000.

It has been shown that it costs but 13 cents to manufacture a gallon of the finest whiskey. This may explain why whiskey men always wear the biggest diamonds.

SCALPING THE ENEMY

HOW THE INDIANS GLORIED IN THIS FIENDISH PRACTICE.

The Greater the Bravery of the Victim the More His Scalp Was Prized. Men Who Survived This Terrible Ordeal—The Case of Robert McGee.

Of the origin of scalp taking but little is known, and that vague and indefinite. Nearly every tribe has some wild, weird legend to account for the custom, but these traditions vary widely as to the cause. That raising the hair of an enemy is of great antiquity there is no doubt, for in the Bible it is related how the soldiers tore the skin from the heads of their vanquished foes.

With the North American savage there appears to be some close affiliation between the departed and his hair. I have often asked many a blood begrimed warrior why he should care for a dead man's hair, and invariably a number of reasons have been assigned. It is an evidence to his people that he has triumphed over his enemy. The scalps are very prominent factors in the incantations of the medicine lodge, a feature of religious rites. The savage believes there is a wonderfully inherent power in the scalp of an enemy. All the excellent qualities of the victim go with his hair the moment it is wrenched from his head. If the victim is a renowned warrior so much greater is the anxiety to procure his scalp, for the fortunate possessor then inherits all the bravery and prowess of its original owner.

I never knew of but one instance in all my experience among the Indians covering a period of more than a third of a century where a white man taken prisoner in battle escaped death. It was a great many years ago; the party, a dear friend, is still living, a grand old mountaineer, but the homeliest man on earth probably. He was red faced, wrinkled and pockmarked, with a mouth as large and full of teeth as a gorilla, and there was no more hair on his head than there is on a billiard ball.

He was captured in a prolonged fight and taken to the village of the tribe, where the principal chief resided. That dignitary gave one disgusted look at the prisoner and said that he was "bad medicine," and, if not the "evil spirit" himself, closely related to it. The chief ordered his subordinates to furnish the prisoner with a pony, loaded with provisions, provided him with a rifle and told him to go back to his people.

For the reasons stated the Indian of the great plains and Rocky mountains would rather take one scalp of a famous scout or army officer who had successfully chastised them—for example, Custer, Sully, Miles or Crook—than a dozen scalps of ordinary white men.

There are many instances on record where men have been scalped and yet survived the terrible ordeal, but in every case the scalper supposed his victim dead, the latter taking good care that his foeman should not be disabused of the supposed fact.

In 1867 a party of Indians took up a rail on the Union Pacific railroad and laid obstructions on the track. After dark a freight train ran into the trap and was wrecked. The engine driver and firemen were instantly killed. The conductor and brakeman jumped on to find themselves beset by a band of yelling savages. The engineer escaped in the darkness, but the luckless brakeman was shot and fell. The Indians who had tried to stop the train, finding that it had not been derailed, stripped him of his clothing and rode away.

Early in the morning another freight train was flagged by a hideous looking object, which turned out to be the brakeman, who had been shot through the body and scalped. He had recovered his senses, and, knowing that the train was due, walked some distance down the track to save it from being wrecked. He was taken on board, and the train moved up to the wreck, which, after plundering it, the Indians left just as it was thrown over through their devilish act.

I saw the unfortunate man some months afterward. He was perfectly recovered, but with a horrible looking head. He stated that the bullet, although knocking him down, had not made him unconscious, and the greatest trial during the awful night was the necessity of shamming dead, he not daring to even groan while the Indian was sawing at his scalp with a very dull knife.

The other instance which has come under my own observation is that of Robert McGee. In 1864 McGee, a slender stripling of a lad, came to Leavenworth, Kan., seeking employment. That town was the base of government supplies for all the frontier military posts, even as far away as Arizona. A freight caravan was at that time loading for Fort Union, N. M. The wagons and whole outfit were owned by a contractor named H. C. Barret, but he would not take the chances of the long and perilous trip of more than 700 miles through the Indian infested plains unless the government leased the train outright or gave him an indemnifying bond or assurance against loss. The bond was given and Barret proceeded to hire teamsters—a hard task on account of the danger attending the journey. Young McGee was among the number engaged, and the caravan started on July 1, 1864.

It took the old Santa Fe trail, striking the Arkansas river at the great bend of that stream near its confluence with the Walnut. The region was very rough and called the "dark and bloody ground," for some of the most Indian massacres in the history of the plains were perpetrated there. Some insignificant skirmishes with the Indians had taken place, but nothing to cause any serious alarm, and now, as the caravan was approaching the vicinity of Fort Larned, its proximity was believed to be sufficient protection from further possible danger.

On the afternoon of July 18—it had been an excessively hot day—the caravan went into camp at an early hour. The escorting troops stacked arms about half a mile distant, but in full view of the train. The men should have kept a good lookout for surprises—probably did in a way—but there was a feeling of security in the knowledge that a regular attack by savages is rarely made until the early hours of the morning, when sleep is heaviest.

About 4 o'clock, however, a band of Brule Sioux, under the lead of Little Turtle, descended from the sand hills in all the fury of a tornado, uttering their wild war whoops, and of all the small army of men employed by the caravan young Robert McGee alone came out alive to tell the story of the massacre. Every individual was shot dead and scalped as he lay or sat at the mess table. The mules, of course, went to swell the herd of the savages, but the wagons were destroyed by fire, the canvas covers cut up into breechcloth and the flour with which the caravan was loaded emptied from its sacks on the prairie.

Young McGee was attacked by Little Turtle himself and knocked to the ground by one blow of his tomahawk. As he lay there, partially stunned and bleeding, Little Turtle fired two arrows into his body, pinning him to the earth. Then, in a transport of fiendishness, he took Robert's own pistol and shot him, the bullet lodging in his backbone. Not quite satisfied that he had made a good job of it, he stooped over the boy's prostrate body and, running his knife around his head, lifted sixty-four square inches of his scalp, trimming it off just back of the ears.

Believing his victim to be dead by that time, the chief abandoned him, but others of the band in passing hacked him with their knives and poked holes into him with their long lances. All the others in the train were long since dead, killed outright, and their bodies mutilated.

After the savages had completed their work they rode, whooping and yelling away, and the troops that had witnessed the whole affair from their vantage ground came upon the scene to investigate and learn whether the Sioux had been properly met or not by the allotted force of the caravan. The officer in command was very properly court martialed and dismissed in disgrace from the service. He never gave any satisfactory reason for his outrageous and cowardly conduct.

The only part the troops took in the affair was to bury the dead. When they attempted to put young McGee under the ground they found a very lively corpse, despite the fact that he was scalped and had received fourteen distinct wounds, any one of which would have terminated the life of an ordinary man.

After interring the dead the soldiers hastened to Fort Larned, thirty miles distant, where young McGee was placed under the care of the post surgeon. It was three months before he was able to be moved from there. During that time he had fair command of his mental faculties and was sufficiently strong to tell all the incidents of the attack.

The owner of the caravan, who had remained in Leavenworth, on hearing what had befallen his property put in a claim for big damages from the government and was awarded a sum which made him independent for life, but he persistently refused to do anything for the sole survivor.

McGee's claims were laid before the president, and in October, 1864, Mr. Lincoln sent him a letter and a pass by special envoy, directing him to come to Washington as soon as he was able to travel and stating that he himself would see that McGee's wrongs were righted.

When McGee had recovered sufficiently to move about, his mind, which had been remarkably clear up to that time, began to cloud, and he became possessed of a mania to hunt Sioux to the death. In one of his frenzied spells the pass and the letter from President Lincoln were stolen from him, and neither the president nor the army took any further notice of him.

For a dozen years after receiving his injuries McGee was a wanderer, and when it was discovered that Little Turtle had been wiped out it was said that the biggest notch on McGee's gun barrel commemorated the full measure of his revenge, a long mark for the chief and nine shorter ones for the subordinate headmen who had bitten the dust at the command of the unerring rifle that never failed to execute its mission when pointed at a Brule's breast.

After Little Turtle had been sent to the happy hunting grounds McGee's mind began to regain its normal equilibrium until at last he once more became perfectly sane.—Kansas City Star.

GIRL BABY'S AWFUL ECZEMA

Sight of Eye Destroyed by Disease—Tried Five Doctors but Grew Worse—In Agony Eight Months—Parents Discouraged, Until They Tried Cuticura Remedies

IN ONE WEEK ALL SORES DISAPPEARED

"Our little girl, one year and a half old, was taken with eczema or that was what the doctor said it was. We called in the family doctor and he gave some tablets and said she would be all right in a few days. The eczema grew worse and we called in doctor No. 2. He said she was teething, as soon as the teeth were through she would be all right. But she still grew worse. Doctor No. 3 said it was eczema. By this time she was nothing but a yellow, greenish sore. Well, he said he could help her, so we let him try it about a week. One morning we discovered a little yellow pimple on one of her eyes. Of course we phoned for doctor No. 3. He came over and looked her over and said that he could not do anything more for her, that we had better take her to some eye specialist, since it was an ulcer. So we went to Oswego to doctor No. 4, and he said the eyesight was gone, but that he could help it. We thought we would try doctor No. 5. Well, that proved the same, only he charged $10 more than doctor No. 4. We were nearly discouraged. I saw one of the Cuticura advertisements in the paper and thought we would try the Cuticura Treatment, so I went and purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies, which cost me $1, and in three days our daughter, who had been sick about eight months, showed great improvement, and in one week all sores had disappeared. Of course it could not restore the eyesight, but if we had used Cuticura in time I am confident that it would have saved the eye. We think there is no remedy so good for any skin trouble or impurity of the blood as Cuticura. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Abbott, R. F. D. No. 9, Fulton, Oswego Co., N. Y., August 17, 1906."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children, and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap (25c.) to Cleanse the Skin, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to Heal the Skin, and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.) (or in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60) to Purify the Blood. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., sole Props., Boston, Mass.

China's Flood Peril.

Thousands of men work all their lives at securing the banks of the great Yellow river in China. But every now and then the tide sweeps away all opposition, and the loss in human life is greater than any war ever caused. In 1897 the river burst its bonds. Day after day the torrent flowed twenty miles an hour, thirty miles wide and ten feet deep. The flood has been described as that of five Danubes pouring from a height for two months on end. For 2,000 years the Chinese have been embanking this river. The silt which the waters bring down from the mountains builds up the bed and raises the surface of the water. The banks are raised higher and higher to keep in the water, and for mile after mile the river runs over a bed whose level is far above that of the fields through which it takes its way. But the weak part of the embankment is always found out. The river always breaks through. And then a province is swept out of existence, and people die by millions. The death roll in 1887 was estimated at from 2,000,000 to 7,000,000.

Why

should your baby suffer? When he is fretful and restless don't experiment on him and use any old thing your neighbor recommends. Buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, greatest known medicine and cure for all children's diseases. It is mild in its action, builds up the system, makes thin puny babies fat. Mrs. J. C. Smith, Tampa, Fla., writes: "My baby was thin and sickly, could not retain its food and cried all night. I used one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and in a few days baby was laughing, happy and well." Sold by W. M. Johnson.

Destructive Shellfish.

In the tropics rock boring and wood boring shellfish are among the greatest natural agents of destruction in the shallow waters of the sea. It was not until the builders of iron ships launched the present navies of peace or war upon the deep that the hulls of vessels moored for any time in harbor were safe from their attacks. The shells of these mollusks are elegant and beautiful. They are often not at all obviously adapted for boring. Frequently they are very thin, looking almost like hardened paper. Yet they bore through teak or oak, hardened clay, chalk, rock and concrete breakwaters.

How to Avoid Pneumonia.

We have never heard of a single instance of a cold resulting in pneumonia or other lung trouble when Foley's Honey and Tar has been taken. It not only stops the cough, but heals and strengthens the lungs. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered. Dr. C. J. Bishop of Agnew, Mich., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar in three very severe cases of pneumonia with good results in every case." J. W. McCollum & Co.

Indian Hemp and Catalepsy.

A single grain of the resin of Indian hemp will produce catalepsy in a man. A few hours are required for the effects to reach a climax, when his limbs may be placed in almost any position without difficulty, and when once placed they remain in the given position indefinitely, although the natural influence of gravity would cause them to fall. During the catalepsy the body is usually insensible to all impressions.

of living is to have good health. Use Herbine and you will have bushels of joy. You need not be blue, fretful and have that bad taste in your mouth. Try a bottle of Herbine, a positive cure for all liver complaints. E. Harrell, Austin, Texas, writes: "I have used Herbine for over a year, and find it a fine regulator. I gladly recommend it as a fine medicine for dyspepsia." Sold by W. M Johnson.

UNPROFITABLE FEEDING

Intelligent stock raisers know that a certain amount of feed is necessary to keep an animal alive. They might feed that amount as long as it lives, and it would never gain a pound.

There is no profit in that kind of feeding. The kind that pays is the kind that builds flesh rapidly. If it takes twenty pounds of food each day to keep a sheep alive, twenty-five pounds a day will make it gain flesh. It's the extra five that brings the profit. The first five pounds amounts to nothing, nor does the second or third or fourth five pounds.

It's the same way with advertising. You have to do a certain amount to overcome the resistance of the public.

You have to do a certain amount of advertising to make them wake up to the fact that you are in business at all. You have to pay a certain amount to keep your advertising alive. What you pay above that amount brings profit.

Some advertisers fail because they do not use enough space. They use barely enough or sometimes not quite enough to make the advertising self sustaining. A little bit more would make it profitable. It is better to advertise a little too much than not quite enough.—Charles Austin Bates.

Some of our advertisers could enlarge their space with profit.

IN COUNTY COURT.

R. M. Ammons, Arrested for Assault and Battery, Discharged.

R. M. Ammons, the plumber who was arrested upon a charge of assault and battery preferred by T. J. McEvoy, was arraigned before Judge Mason Thursday.

This is another chapter in the history of plumbing troubles, for when the court investigated the matter it was shown to the presiding Judge that Ammons had already been arrested and arraigned in Justice Colman's court upon this same charge, had pled guilty and paid his fine, hence the court discharged the defendant.

Attorney B. A. Thrasher represented the prosecution, while Attorney J. M. Rivers appeared for the defense.

It is hoped that this is the end of these plumbers' troubles.
